Sahaabah

(Radi Allahu anhum)

Every Nabi or Rasul of Allah Ta'ala had a group of followers who were his helpers and companions. After the demise of that Nabi, these companions kept alive his teachings by propagating that which they had learnt.

Similarly, our beloved Nabi, Hazrat Muhammad [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] also had a group of followers who sat in his company, learnt from him, fought at his side against the kuffaar (disbelievers) and obeyed his every command. These people are known as the Sahabah (R.A.). In total there were more than 100 000 Sahabah. It is an established fact that after the Ambiyaa (alayhimus salaam), the Sahaabah (Radi Allahu anhum) are the greatest of people. It is mentioned in a Hadith that Allah Ta'ala after choosing Hazrat Muhammad [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] as His Nabi, looked into the hearts of the people. He found the Sahabah (Radi Allahu anhum) to be the people with the best of hearts. Hence He chose them to be the companions and helpers of Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam].

Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] loved his Sahabah greatly. We have to love and think good of them at all times. We must never speak ill of any Sahaabi. Our Rasul [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] once said: "Fear Allah, Fear Allah with regards to my Sahaabah. After I leave this world don't speak ill of them. Whoever hurts them has hurt me and whoever hurts me has hurt Allah Ta'ala and the one who hurts Allah Ta'ala will soon be punished." The status of a Sahabi is so high that even the greatest of walis (friend of Allah) cannot reach the rank of the lowest Sahaabi.

It is reported in a Hadith that Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] said: "My Sahabah are all like guiding stars, whomsoever you choose to follow, you will be rightly guided."

From this we understand that Allah Ta'ala and His Rasul [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] were well pleased with all the Sahabah (Radi Allahu anhum). At all times we must respect them and speak good of them. Speaking ill of the Sahabah (R.A.) is dangerous for ones Imaan.

May Allah Ta'ala give us the ability of always respecting the Sahabah and speaking good of them at all times. Aameen.

Hazrat Abu Bakar (R.A.)

The greatest of all the Sahabah (Radi Allahu anhum) was Hazrat Abu Bakar (Radi Allahu anhu). He was our Prophet [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] best friend and the first Man to accept Islam. From his childhood days he was a very close friend of Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam]. He had led a very pure life even before accepting Islam.

He always assisted Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] with his wealth, time and efforts throughout his life. He accompanied him during the Hijrah (migration) and fought in every battle at his side.

Hazrat Abu Bakar (Radi Allahu anhu) was appointed the first Khalifa to succeed Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam] and will be the first person from the Ummah to enter into Jannah. After the Ambiya (alayhimus salaam), he is the greatest of all men. He was given glad tiding of Jannah in this very world. Allah Ta'ala was pleased with him.

In his era as the Khalifa he ruled with great justice. After passing away he was buried next to Rasulullah [Sallallahu alayhi wasallam]. We must respect him and speak highly of him at all times. We should never ever speak ill of him or any Sahabi.

"My Sahabah are like guiding stars"
